Romania brings to the table a great geographic and strategic position, being located on the western shore of the Black Sea. This benefit offers access to markets in Eastern Europe and the Middle East, but also connective routes to the West of Europe, covering markets of tens of millions of consumers. The continuously developing highway network and the Black Sea ports (especially the port of Constanţa) are key factors that strengthen Romania's role as an important logistics hub in Europe. Additionally, Romania benefits from direct access to the Pan-European Corridor IV, which links Western Europe to the Middle East and Asia.

During the past few years, the focus has shifted from the capital as a hotspot towards regional cities as well. Counties with a high degree of attractiveness are Cluj, Timisoara or Iasi. Generally, there is a lot of room to grow, even though Romania has outpaced some of its peers in recent years; there is a high interest from retailers and developers to enter the market or expand here.

In the coming years, Romania has favorable prospects, thanks to investments in transport infrastructure and European support for the modernization of road and rail networks. Moreover, the Romanian logistics sector will continue to grow, driven by the increasing demand for efficient distribution and storage solutions, fueled by online trade and the globalization of supply chains. Romania's strategic position, combined with its skilled workforce and competitive costs, makes it an attractive location for investments in logistics and transport, and further infrastructure development will enhance these advantages.

Romania has made significant strides in developing its transportation infrastructure, focusing on road, rail, air, and maritime sectors to enhance economic growth and logistical efficiency.

Road Infrastructure

Romania's road network spans approximately 86,336 km, with 41,653 km modernized. The country's motorway network is expanding, with over 1,200 km operational and key projects like the A1, A2, and A3 under construction. These improvements are vital for boosting domestic and international trade.

Rail Infrastructure

Romania's rail network covers around 22,000 km, with ongoing modernization efforts to increase capacity and efficiency. Romania is part of the Pan-European Corridor IV, connecting Western Europe to the Balkans and Asia. Upgrading this infrastructure will further promote rail as an eco-friendly and cost-effective alternative for freight transport.

Air Infrastructure

Romania is served by 16 international airports, including Henri Coandă in Bucharest, Cluj-Napoca, and Iasi. Investments in airport expansions and upgrades are designed to accommodate rising passenger numbers and enhance Romania's connectivity to global markets.

Maritime Infrastructure

Romania has significant access to the Black Sea, with the Port of Constanţa being one of the largest in the region. It serves as a crucial hub for trade between Europe, Asia, and the Middle East. Ongoing investments in other ports like Midia and Mangalia further strengthen Romania's position as a key maritime gateway.

These infrastructure developments are vital for positioning Romania as a central logistics hub in Eastern Europe, driving economic growth, improving efficiency, and attracting new investments.

With 25 years of experience and 50M EUR turnover last year, we are stepping forward when it comes to fleet renewal and continuous evolution. Operating 245 state of the art trucks from the market leaders, the whole ICE fleet is capable of running on bio-fuel HVO100.
